Get The Legal Translation Services and Remove All Language Barriers

Your business is growing and you decided to expand into the most dynamic business hub in the MENA region: the UAE. You had every detail meticulously planned and set, and now you need your legal and official documents translated: commercial registers, financial statements, employee contracts, etc. The expected launch date is approaching, so you quickly searched for a translation service provider that promised swift turnaround times and reasonable prices. On submitting your translated legal and official documents, you were shocked that they were rejected. When you inquired about the cause of this pitfall, the answer was that the translations are not certified and the documents are poorly translated by machine translation (MT) with no regard to the intricate legal frameworks in UAE. This resulted in a major setback, postponing the launch date and costing you time and money.

You don't have to go through this when opting for Transbridge to handle all your legal translation needs.

FAQ

What is legal translation?

Legal translation is crucial for official documents, required by entities such as government agencies, embassies, and consulates. At Transbridge, our certified translations cater to diverse industries, including Immigration, Education, Personal Status, Courts, Life Science, Pharmaceutical, Healthcare and Medical, Finance, Oil and Gas, E-Commerce, and Engineering.

Who shall provide legal Translation?

In the United Arab Emirates, the translation company and the respective translator shall hold accreditation from the Ministry of Justice, having the translator successfully cleared thorough examinations set by the Ministry. The signature from our translator and the stamp of our company serve as your passport to any official body.

What sets Certified and Non-Certified Translations apart?

Certified and non-certified translations adhere to content standards, ensuring linguistic precision. Certification is vital for legal document accuracy. Careful selection of a qualified service provider, like Transbridge, is essential, especially with accreditation from the American Translators Association (ATA). In the UAE, Ministry of Justice authorization is key, along with ensuring the translator's official certification. Transbridge masters meeting these criteria, providing excellence in certified translations.

What languages does Transbridge offer certified translation services for?

Transbridge offers certified translation services for diverse languages, such as Arabic, English, French, Russian, Chinese, Italian, German, Turkish, Persian, and more. Trusted by entities like the UAE Ministry of Justice and the American Translators Association (ATA), our proficiency goes beyond bridging language gaps. We master the unique characteristics of each language, ensuring the translated content aligns with the target language, as if originally composed in that language.
